BIBLIOGRAPHY OF ANTHROPOLOGY & FOLK-LORE, 1907.

Compiled by Northcote W. Thomas.

This bibliography deals with books and periodicals published in the British Empire; but a few works published in English in such countries as China are also included. There is no attempt to include more than prehistoric Archaeology; only unwritten languages are noticed. This issue includes translations of the Bible published in 1906 and 1907.

At the time of going to press Parliamentary Papers for 1906 were not yet accessible at the British Museum and are consequently further postponed. Works marked with an asterisk are important and not fully indexed; notable articles in non-anthropological periodicals are distinguished in the same way.

Proper names in italics in the square brackets are those of tribes; otherwise italics signify that the objects named are figured.

The general geographical arrangement is that of the Dewey Schedule, but with certain modifications.

* *

Mr. Y. Trivikrama Rau, of Madras, has given valuable assistance by preparing and forwarding many of the Indian slips. The compiler would be glad to find collaborators for Australia, Canada, Further India, New Zealand, South and West Africa. He also begs authors to send copies of articles, etc., for mention in the bibliography. It is especially important that those published in the Colonies should be brought to his notice in this way. They should be sent to the Royal Anthropological Institute.
